ABOUT INSTANT GRANULES

The development of instant granules was made by Domaco in 1960. It has been a success story for herbal teas and children's which is no followed by the innovation of sugar-free instant granules. The different types are designed according to the desired application during product development.

The selection of the best herbs and raw materials as well as the definition of their quality starts in the field and is documented from there. The verification of herb purity and the lack of pesticides and contaminations are guaranteed by the long-lasting cooperation with specialists. No tea is purer than instant tea, thereby also complying with the quality standards. With the new sugar-free | zero calories instant granules we are able to combine the full effects in two grams of instant granules. The granules dissolve in hot or cold water for delicious drinks.
